Empire of Sonnstahl

Founded in the third century of the Ninth Age, Sonnstahl is among the youngest of the world's great powers, but one of the most ambitious. A large and prosperous human nation, its impressive trade, finance and education have propelled its rise to a pre-eminent position within the continent of Vetia, safeguarded always by its large and highly trained armies, and ever-devoted to the Goddess of the Sun. Lately embarking upon a new era of global colonisation, Sonnstahl's ascent shows no signs of slowing – woe to those who stand in its way.

The Empire of Sonnstahl, founded in the image of its primary goddess, represents one of the great human powers. From large territories in the heart of Vetia to newly founded colonies and current political allies, Sunna's name unites men and women in their pursuit of knowledge, wealth and power.

Sunna

A great warrior hero who led humanity from the Ages of Ruin into the Ninth Age, Sunna is regarded as the divine incarnation of the Sun Goddess, and remains by far the most popular deity in Sonnstahl. The very name of the nation is taken from that of Sunna's famous weapon, the Sonnstahl; since its founding, it has declared itself to be the metaphorical sword of the goddess. Led by powerful prelates and supported by secretive inquisitorial agents, Sunna's Church holds great sway over the hearts and souls of the Empire – not to mention imperial politics and economics. Sunna's image goes before Sonnstahl's armies, and many commoners are so zealously devoted to the goddess that they're known to join battles as untrained fanatics. Despite Sunna's pre-eminence, other gods from the ancient pantheon of northern Vetia still enjoy substantial numbers of followers – especially Ullor, God of Winter, and Volund, the Smith God.

Wealth and Power

Styling itself as an Empire in the image of prestigious and ancient imperial Avras – the largest city in the world, which Sunna famously liberated – Sonnstahl is ruled by an emperor chosen by a conclave of electors. These individuals hail from noble families as well as mayors, prelates, grand masters of knightly orders, and sufficiently wealthy merchants, many of whom maintain their own military forces that have been known to join imperial armies if needed.

Magic and Technology

Sonnstahl ranks among the greatest centres of learning in the world. Its many universities push the boundaries of natural and unnatural sciences, while its acclaimed colleges of engineering regularly develop new weapons and machines for both industry and war. Imperial wizards are trained in famed academies and societies, and many focus their studies on battle-magic.

Armies

To survive in a world populated by many large creatures and dark powers, Sonnstahl's human armies have learned to compensate for what they lack in size and nature with strong weapons and stronger discipline. Troops are drilled across the Empire using codified manuals and regulations, ensuring that all imperial soldiers are able to work flawlessly together, each unit understanding its purpose within the greater whole. In battle, armies are directed by experienced marshals via a chain of officers and sergeants able to relay and follow orders like well-oiled clockwork. Supported by faith and a tremendous black powder arsenal, not to mention magic and sometimes powerful mounts, these soldiers are regularly able to put down enemies larger, older, stranger and more ferocious than themselves.

Army Model Rules

Blessings

A unit containing Blessings gains First Strike (Hatred). Model parts with Mount are not affected. The model can cast the following three Bound Spells (3+), with Type: Caster; and Duration: One Turn.

Ullor's Blessing

The target's unit gains Aegis (5+, against Melee Attacks).

Sunna's Blessing

The target's unit gains Flaming Attacks.

Each enemy unit in contact with the target's unit when the spell is cast, suffers D6 hits with Str 4, AP 0, Flaming Attacks and Magical Attacks.

Volund's Blessing

The target's unit gains Zeal.

Imperial Authority

At the start of each friendly Player Turn, each model with Imperial Authority may select one of the following effects, called 'Orders', and apply it to a single unit, with Duration: One Turn. The target unit must:

- Be a Parent or Support Unit.
- Be the model's own unit, or be within range of the model's Commanding Presence or Beacon of Courage (if it has one of these rules).
- The chosen target cannot already be under the effect of an Order.

Order:	Effect:
Brace For Impact!	The target gains Fight in Extra Rank and Shoot in Extra Rank .
On The Double!	The target gains +1" Cha and +2" Mob.
Ready! Aim! Fire!	The target gains Accurate .
Steady, Men!	The target gains Disciplined , and its Courage Tests gain Minimised .

Parent Unit

A unit containing a model with this rule is referred to as a 'Parent Unit'. Parent Unit gains Fight in Extra Rank while there is at least one Support Unit engaged in the same combat.

Support Unit

A unit containing a model with this rule is referred to as a 'Support Unit'.

Support Units within 8" of a Parent Unit gain Resolute.

During the opponent's Charge Phase, Support Units may perform one of the following actions:

1. Supporting Fire: the Support Unit may perform an out of sequence Shooting Attack towards an enemy unit that has successfully performed a Charge Move against a friendly Parent Unit within 8".
Apply the normal rules for Shooting Attacks, ignoring the Parent Unit for Cover and Line of Sight purposes.
2. Counter Charge: after enemy units finish their Charge Moves, Support Units within 8" of a successfully charged friendly Parent Unit may choose one enemy unit that has Charged the Parent Unit and declare a Charge, applying the normal rules for Charging (Line of Sight, Front Arc, rolls for Charge Range, etc.).
A Support Unit that performs a Counter Charge is considered to have at most one Proper Rank for the purpose of inflicting Surrounded, with Duration: Round of Combat.

Most drills are anchored around large regiments of Sohnstahl's heavily armed foot soldiers. Smaller detachments, commonly equipped with ranged weapons, are trained in a variety of tactics to support these frontline formations, each component working together to create an effect greater than the sum of their parts.

 The spells are gained starting from the first spell of the Path, progressing towards the last spell of the Path.
 This does not change the bearer's chosen Magic Path.
Note: by doing so, it is possible that a single Wizard gain the same spell twice – yet they still won't be able to cast that same spell multiple times (for example, a Death Cult Hierarch with Wizard Adept and Soul Conduit that selected spells #1 and #3 from Divination and swapped to Duty is Eternal during Battle Setup selects Evocation with Scroll of the Free Mind: they now know Whispers of the Veil twice, as well as Danse Macabre, and Duty is Eternal).

Note: The usage of a Power Scroll can change a Casting Roll to a Miscast.

Spell Scroll (Flaming Swords) 20 pts
 Wizards only.
 One use only. Duration: One Phase.
 Can be activated at any time during your Magic Phase.
 The bearer knows the spell indicated in brackets in addition to its other spells, unless the bearer already knows it.

Hereditary Spell

Sonnstahl's scholars pride themselves on wide reading and sprawling curricula. While it's impossible for most wizards to master more than one Path, imperial colleges encourage students to achieve a foundation in multiple schools of magic before specialising.

Liberal Magics

During Pre-game Selections, if a Caster from the Empire of Sonnstahl either selects the Hereditary Spell or gains it by any other means, it must instead choose a single Path of Magic from the ones available to it other than its chosen Path: the Caster gains the Apprentice Spell(#1) from that Path as a Learned Spell.

The study of the Veil and its manipulation is no idle pastime for the wizards of Sonnstahl. These ministers of the Goddess and Sonnstahl's other churches are as adept from the pulpit as they are in melee: both occasions calling for lengthy recitals of the holy books. Lovers of fire, brimstone and the destruction of heretics, such battle priests develop a powerful connection to their deities, using exhortations somewhere between spells and prayers to bless the troops.

Answering to the Supreme Prelate herself, inquisitors are charged with rooting out insidious elements within imperial society. Cultists, vampiric thralls and those who simply ask too many questions are all prey to these steely-eyed killers. Dressed in simple, well-worn black clothing recognisable to any Sonnstahler, in battle they're feared for their expertise in the arts of death-dealing.

Undisputed kings of beasts, dragons are seldom willing to accept a rider. Core (Min. 25 %)

The backbone of Sonnstahl's military has always been the serried ranks of infantry that each local authority maintains. Armed and trained in a common manner across the land, even if the names and uniforms of each regiment vary, these professional soldiers are rigorously drilled in discipline and tactics.

Ranged support is a cornerstone of Sonnstahl's military method. Powerful crossbows combine a tremendous range with the ability to skewer even the toughest hide. New black powder technology is increasingly available as well, able to punch solid shot through even the best armour.

While the lower classes fight on foot, wealthier citizens, when called to war, are commonly found mounted on heavily armoured war horses. Such regiments are usually maintained by Electors – those who participate in votes for a new Emperor. These cavaliers claim to bring a sense of class to what would otherwise be merely a vulgar brawl.

Warriors who have shown their mettle and enacted great deeds on the battlefield may be granted the honour of joining an order. Such fellowships rely on a set of core principles and beliefs, and are entrusted with special tasks by imperial powers. The most famous is the Order of the White Eye, which oversees the vital defences of the Beacons on Sonnstahl's eastern border.

Claiming to have been founded in the days of Sunna herself, the Fellowship of the Sun Griffon is perhaps the most prestigious order of knights in Sonnstahl. Today, its members exclusively ride griffons, giving them a deadly advantage in the fray. With vicious talons and beaks, these mounts provide a devastating platform for their skilled masters.

Commonly deployed on Sonnstahl's frontiers, rangers monitor the most empty and perilous regions of the Empire. Experts in the many dangers of the wilderness, they're particularly familiar with monstrous animals. Thanks to first-rate engineering guilds and military academies, the Imperial Armoury now boasts a varied collection of black powder weapons capable of devastating ranged attacks. By exploding rocket or mortar bomb, hails of solid shot or a single mighty cannonball hurled across the battlefield, the Empire's greatest enemies have rightly learned to fear these death-dealing contraptions.

Sunna's Fury (Max. 30 %)

The most pious Sunnans are sometimes radicalised by the Goddess's more extreme cults. Taught to show devotion and repentance through bodily harm – both to themselves and those judged as Sunna's enemy – they often join Sonnstahl's armies uninvited. Their aid is not turned away, for they are formidable in battle: with nothing but faith for armour, they're incapable of fear.

The zenith of Sonnstahl's technological arts is the new steel behemoth known as the steam tank. Powered by ingenious engines, these impenetrable hulks roll into battle gouting steam and promising death. Equipped with powerful artillery, the machine is terrifying both close up and from afar, though its pilots are frequently prone to various forms of madness and obsession.
